Meeting Teachers

Paul V. Brown
Superintendent

A.B., Muskingum University M.A., University of Chicago

My sincere greetings and good wishes to every Jack and Jill who reads this book. Associations in high school mean much to our future happiness. Attention to studies, to cooperative living, and to the activities which lead to good American citizenship, all of which are emphasized in high school, pay dividends which you will appreciate more and more as you grow older. I wish for each of you a future full of useful, happy living.

Sincerely,

Paul N. Brown

Before we say good-bye to Jack and Jill and before they descend with their pail of water, we hope that they will tarry long enough on the hill to survey the surrounding vista and catch a vision of what is beyond. Their future is in that vision.

Motto: Always victors

After eleven years of toil, we, the Class of '46, arrived at our ultimate goal—that of being seniors. The first three years of our high school career seemed to move at snail-pace, but the last took the speed of a fleeting deer. So much had to be done before our class was prepared for the great experience of graduation.

Each year found our class well-represented in music, dramatics, athletics, and other school activities. A number of us played important roles as leaders and officers of clubs and classes. Others have distinguished themselves by receiving high scholastic honors.

Like all classes throughout the history of Columbian, we, too, were challenged by the annual class play and thrilled by the senior party. The crowning event of the year was the unforgettable junior-senior prom.

We shall always remember our baccalaureate and graduation services with their inspiring messages. Thus, as we leave our high-school days, it is as though we were standing under a green light at the intersection beckoning us onward to the avenues of further conquest.

Our junior year finds us traveling steadily onward toward our goal—graduation.

We sponsored the annual junior-senior basketball game, and many of us well represented our class in the various school activities.

The main feature of the year for both juniors and seniors was, of course, the junior-senior prom.

Next year will be our last year at Columbian. We will have reached one of the many goals facing us as we proceed on the pathway of life. Let us not underestimate the importance of this goal in our future life.

Sophomore Class

As the sun sets on the Class of 1948, we find one of the most pleasant and exciting years of our life passing by.

As sophomores we took our first look at Columbian High and found it quite different from that to which we were accustomed at Junior High.

As the last rays of sun peeped over the horizon we found the most important and thrilling event of the year was the prom.

We hope that this will become a tradition to be carried on in the future. Our trip to the Perkins Observatory at Delaware and the excursion to the Greenfield Village, Michigan, were the outstanding events of the year. Our social meetings were frequent and very enjoyable.

The Choir

This year, our large choir participated in many events. We sang for the Christmas program and also for a school assembly. Seventeen members attended the state festival at Cleveland, and several members attended the contests at Oberlin. The whole choir participated in the Buckeye League Festival held at Fostoria.

Giving a program for the 157th District Rotary International Convention held in Tiffin, was one of the main events of the year.

A very successful season was closed by the performance for the baccalaureate service.

Phantom of Delight

The Girls' Glee Club of 1945-46 has completed another successful year under our competent director, Miss Charlotte Bastian. Although we have not made as many public appearances as usual, the club has worked faithfully one period each week. We have tried to make a bigger and better glee club of which our school could be proud.

Purpose: To give pupils more of an opportunity to use Spanish and learn about Spanish customs. The Columbian High Spanish Club, "Los Panamericanos," was organized last fall under the direction of Mrs. Broker. The members are students of the senior Spanish classes, although the junior Spanish students were guests at two meetings.

At our Christmas meeting, Mr. Tappan Rogers showed movies of Mexico and Guatemala. The group sang Christmas carols in Spanish and broke the traditional pinata.

In April Mr. and Mrs. Gamarra entertained "Los Panamericanos" with a banquet at which they served Spanish dishes "a la Peru." Mr. Gamarra's former home was in Lima, Peru. The year ended with a picnic with the junior Spanish students as guests.

It May Be Dead but It's Still Roman

The Laeti Latini, Happy Latins, composed of junior and senior Latin students, is the name of the Latin Club which is supervised by Miss Dietzel.

In November, baskets of food were given by the club to needy families. Christmas was celebrated with a Saternalia party.

In January a returned G. I., Robert Bowers, gave an illustrated talk on Rome and other places of interest in Italy which he had visited. Robert was a former Columbian High student.

The boys of the club presented the program at the February meeting.

A joint meeting of sophomore, junior, and senior Latin students was held in March. A play was given by Junior High Latin students, and Dr. Frank Kramer of Heidelberg gave a very interesting talk on Latin derivatives. A social hour followed, when refreshments were served in the home economics room.

The main project for the year was the celebration of Latin week, March 10-15. Posters were made by Latin students of Junior High. A radio program was given over WFIN by Latin students of both schools.

The club visited the Museum of Art in Toledo; Ohio, in April. In co-operation with the Classics Club of Heidelberg College the Laeti Latini presented the movie, "The Last Days of Pompeii" in Columbian auditorium on April 9.

Home Economics Club

One of our most successful and well attended programs was a style show and reception. In addition to the modeling of different types of clothing made in the home economics classes by the students, a musical program was given.

Other outstanding programs included a valentine banquet, at which Miss Edith Pitts spoke, and an Easter banquet, at which Miss Helen Mohr was the speaker.

Our club was active in sponsoring a drive to collect clothing for needy school children in Kentucky. In return, we received holly and Christmas greens.

Our membership this year totaled 41.

Behind the Books

These senior girls voluntarily gave their time for the benefit of the students. It has been the duty of the librarians to check the books in and out and to keep the books in order. In carrying out their duties, the staff has learned the method of maintaining a library and also increased their own knowledge of books.

During National Book Week a contest was conducted in which the students participated. Posters for the con-

Bound for Hollywood

The Dramatic Club of Columbian High School has had a busy and successful season. At our regular meetings one-act stage plays have been given such as "Susanna Skids," "The Opera Matinee," and "Cupid's Bow." We have also given some radio plays, one of which was a radio version of "She Stoops to Conquer."

The first important play open to the public was the Christmas play "Good King Wenceslaus." Another play, "Perfect Gentleman," was given in the St. Paul's church "Seven Sisters," year play for the Columbian High School Dramatic Club, was given April 5, 1945.

The sophomores were taken into the club at the beginning the second semester. This was done to prepare them for the tasks ahead of them in the next two years.

Hi-y

The Hi-Y of 1946 has had one of the most successful years in membership. All during the year the attendance has been good.

The club this year has not done too much in the way of entertainment, but it did provide a swim at the Y pool, a joint G. R.—Hi-Y dance, and the annual sweetheart banquet which was held at the end of the school term. Many interesting speakers were heard during the year.

President Eugene Hoffman and Mr. Zimmerman were sent to Columbus to attend the Hi-Y Convention.

The purpose of the club was the main subject of each meeting, and each member benefited by his attendance.

Debate

Columbian's Debate Team, consisting of two affirmative and two negative teams, has had much enjoyment debating the topic Resolved, That every able-bodied male citizen of the United States should have at least one year of compulsory military training before attaining the age of twenty-four.

This year interscholastic debates were resumed with Buckeye League teams and many of the Seneca County teams. In spite of the inexperience of the teams, several favorable decisions were earned. A high light of the season was the Buckeye League tournament at Findlay, in which our teams earned several wins over opponent teams.

The Cheerleaders

Cheerleading plays a major part in any game. The cheerleaders supported their teams at both out-of-town and home games this year. The greater share of the leading was done by the three seniors: Nancy Kieffer, Dorothy Simpson, and Betty Lather. Four juniors—Sally Siegrist, Rita Turner, Junior Eikenbary, and Robert Kirchner—will be the leaders next year with the help of three sophomore girls.

We want to thank the student body for their co-operation in attendance and support at the games and also to thank Miss Haberman, our advisor, for her guidance.

Bucyrus Takes Annual Beating—34 to 6
Behind strong offensive line play, Tiffin's backfield men enjoyed a scoring spree. Hoerig, star fullback, accounted for 20 of the winning points. For the initial game of the season, the Tornadoes' offense and defense was exceptionally good.

A soft touch the week before and a slight case of overconfidence combined to spell disaster for

To the Squad of 1945:

As the 1945 football season opened, it was evident that much hard work and improvement would be necessary if a successful season were to be attained. Due to the cooperation, willingness, and loyalty of the squad members, fine leadership of the senior boys, and a strong desire to win, the team showed gradual improvement from game to game and finished with one of the best records of recent years. A notable achievement was the defeating of Findlay, Fostoria, and Fremont in one season. I know the 1945 squad has left a mark that will be a challenge to the future football squads that represent Columbian on the gridiron.

ROBERT SEELE

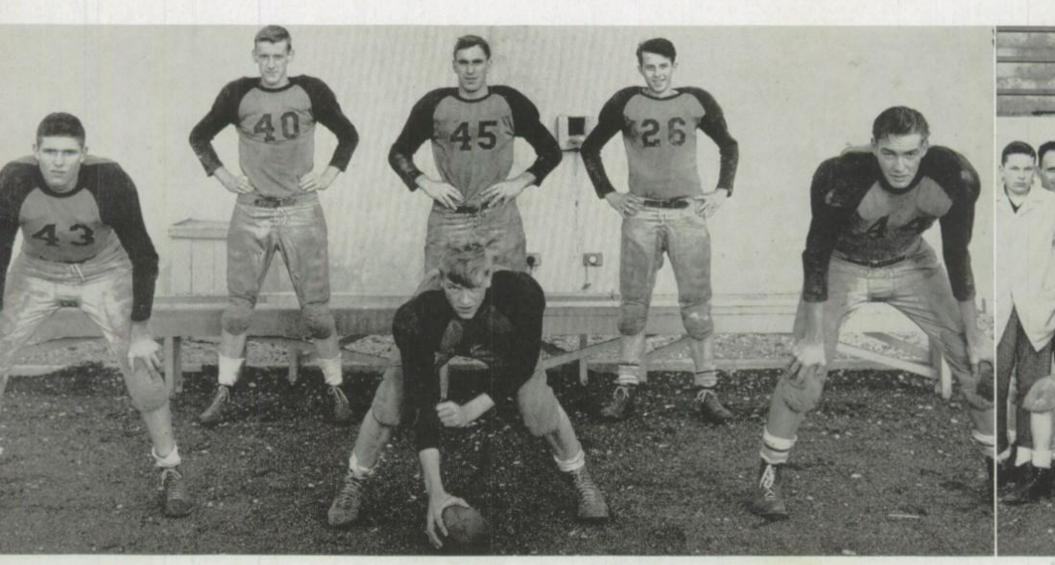

the Blue and Gold combine in their second appearance on the gridiron. Offensive play worked well but the defense left much to be desired.

Powerful Bee-Gee Club Outscores Columbian-24 to 13

In their first Buckeye League game, the Tiffinites opened up on Bee Gee and scored in the first few minutes of play. From there on it was give and take until the final gun. Bee Gee was packed with power and was just too rugged to stop.

Trojans Bow to Columbians-7 to 6

On a fog-wrapped field the Columbian eleven played one of their most thrilling games of the 1945 season. The game went scoreless in the entire first half, with Tiffin threatening once. In the second half Tiffin came on with renewed vigor and with a series of first downs marched to the 2-yard line where Hoerig plunged for the touchdown. Ritzenthaler skirted the end for the deciding point. Late in the fourth quarter the Trojans scored but were foiled in their conversion attempt by Turney, Tiffin lineman, who cracked the Findlay forward wall to block the place kick.

Football is a great competitive sport. Physical conditioning and quick thinking are very necessary. There are many opportunities for display of good sportsmanship. A strong desire to win usually aids in developing the other characteristics. Defeat is easy to take from superior teams when the boys know they have played their best.

Our boys realized these things all season, and their record testifies to their success.

NICK MAZZAFERRO

Redmen Whitewashed-13 to 0

Hoerig again proved his ability by scoring all of the 13 points for Columbian. The Tiffin boys definitely outplayed the Redmen all four quarters and walked off the field with their second League victory.

Fremont Ross Upset-7 to 0

Tiffin clinched runner-up spot in the Buckeye League by defeating the Rossmen in a brilliant game. The linemen shared honors with the backfield men inasmuch as they opened holes in a line that hadn't been scored on up to this time. The defense also worked well, with Henry doing a fine job of backing the line.

Lakeside Snowed Under-33 to 6

The Lakeside aggregation, although exceedingly game, was no match for the terrific onslaught of our powerful backfield who ripped off yardage at will. Hoerig added 25 points to his total.

Senecas Again Fall to Tornadoes-13 to 7

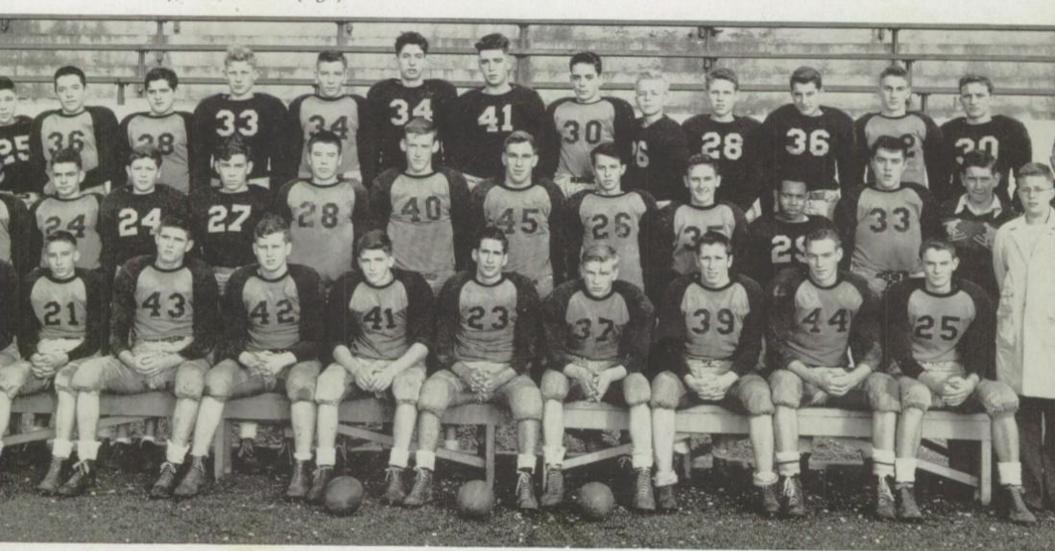

In a jam-packed arena the Columbian grid men again demonstrated that they were a better team by taking Calvert, 13 to 7. Calvert scored first in the early minutes of the battle, but Columbian came back to score on the Kramermen and failed to get the bonus point. At the start of the second half Columbian trailed by one point, but soon drove in to score again in a beautiful break-away run by Merle McKillip. Then Hoerig steam-rolled the extra point and the city championship crown once again belongs to Tiffin Columbian.

James Hilborn

"Jim," a rock at tackle, had a fast charge that set many an adversary on his heels. Only a junior, he'll be back next year. Glenn Ritzenthaler

"Ritzy" was one of the fastest ball carriers to be seen this season. His specialty was the swift end-around dash that kept spectators out of their seats every game. You'll see plenty of him next year.

Bonford Talbert

"Bonny" was the scrappiest center to be seen on the field this year. With his style of play, great things are expected of him next year.

Gilbert Smith

"Gib" was always in there fighting. When not in the game, he gave all he had to keep the team's spirit up. Eugene Hoffman

"Gene" was the most conscientious player on the squad. Always playing to win, he never quit until the final gun. Raymond Henry

Ray was our rugged blocking back. In every game he led plays that counted and did a good job of backing the line. James Elchert

"Carpy" was our hard-hitting guard who consistently broke up the opposition's plays. He'll be back on the gridiron next year.

Jim Gabris

"Schlitz," in his last year for Columbian High, played aggressive ball throughout the whole season. He showed up well against Fremont in the team's toughest game of the season. He was depended on greatly on both offense and defense.

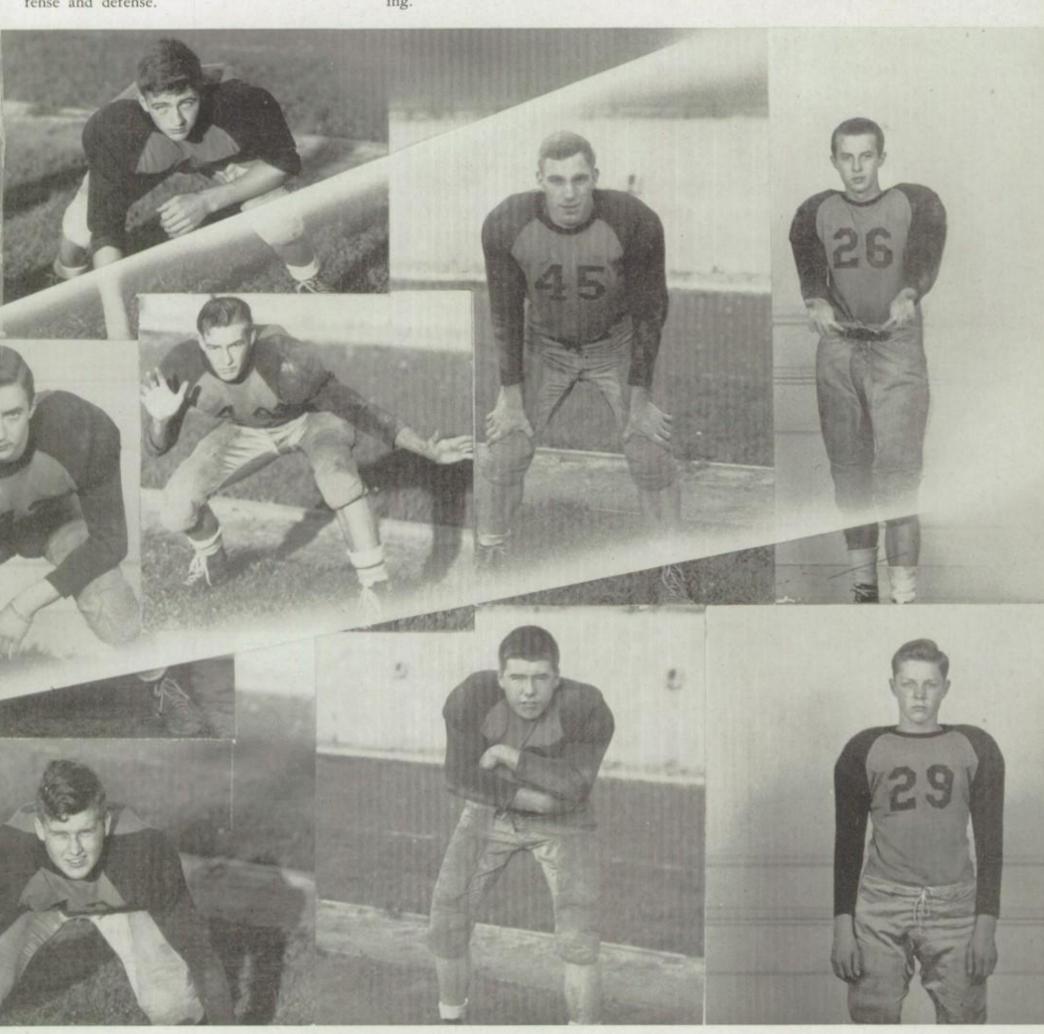

Herald Hoerig

(all-Buckeye 1st team; co-captain) "Red" played his third and last year of varsity ball for Columbian this year. "Red" was the type of ball carrier that a coach gets once in a lifetime. He was seldom stopped by less than two tackles.

Charles Clady

(all-Buckeye 1st team) "Monk," one of the Buckeye League's most aggressive ends, placed on the League's first team because of his stellar defense and sharp offensive blockMerle McKillip

(all-Buckeye 2nd team; co-captain) "Buz," our flashy tail back, with his shifty and tricky running, accounted for much of this year's success.

Milton McKillip

"Pete," our heavy tackle, broke up plenty of plays this season. He is aggressive and should go a long way in assisting next year's team.

Bill Brown

"Brownie" played a good game at halfback all year. He gained much ex-perience that will help him mold next year's eleven.

Richard Turney
"Dick" played his heart out every second that he was in the game. He distinguished himself in the Findlay game by blocking the conversion kick that would have tied the game up.

Varsity

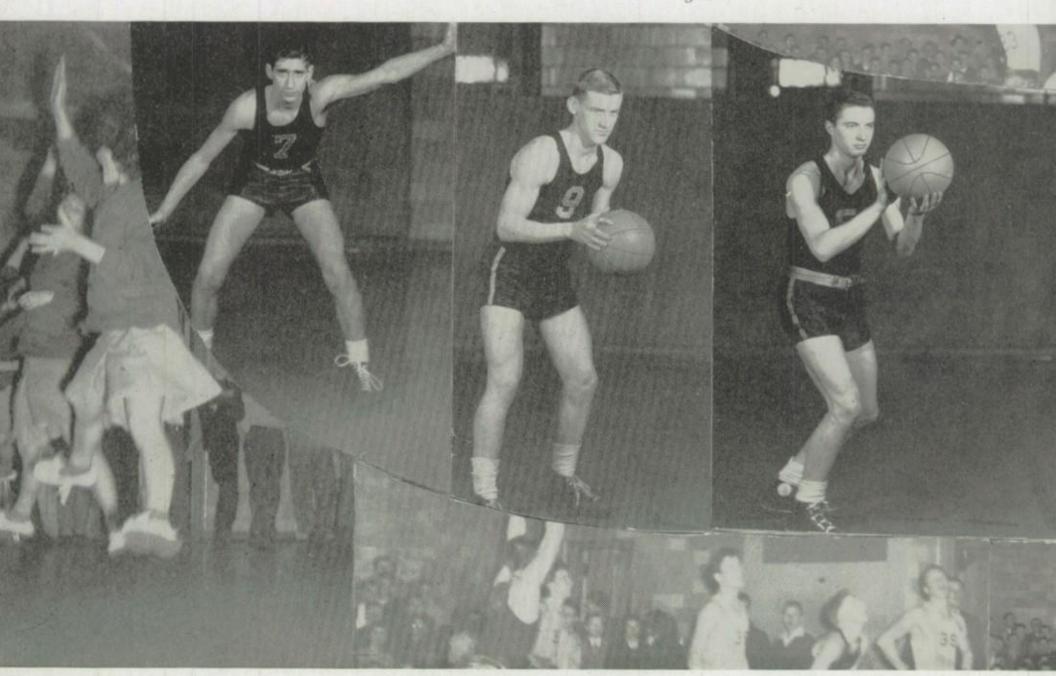

"Bon," the only underclassman to win a letter, was in there fighting every minute. You'll see a lot more of him next year.

Raymond Henry

Raymond Henry

Ray was one of our most dependable backboard men, who could always be elected honorary captain this year. He came counted on to do his best. He worked hard into his own this season with a one-hand and had a great love for the game.

shot that kept Columbian in many tight games.

The Columbian basketball season of 1945-46 had more than its share of thrills. Games were won or lost in several instances by a matter of seconds or went into overtime by a shot as the whistle ended the game.

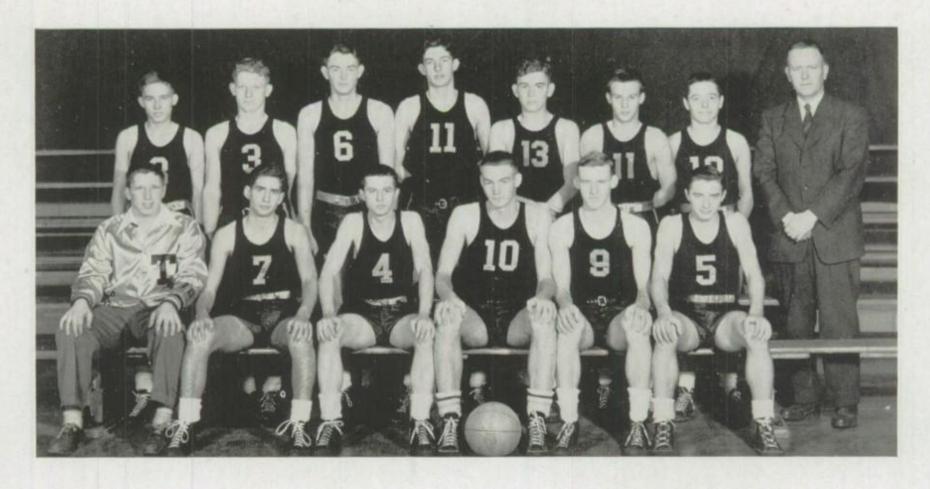

Four seniors were on the starting five, and to these boys who are leaving we all wish lots of luck and plenty of victories in the future.

With the enthusiasm of a peppy group of sophomore girls, the intramural program and the regular gym classes were quite successful this year. Tournaments in badminton, volleyball, basketball, and softball each had sixty or more participants, with most of the games being played during the noon hour.

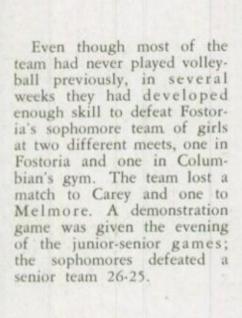

It is most encouraging to have nearly one-hundred per cent participation in all these activities and to be able to depend on individual girls, who helped to a great extent with the planning of each activity.

CALAMITY IN A HOTEL LOBBY

I remember it now very clearly and well.

'Twas the first time I stayed in a large hotel.

I was thrilled by the sight of the smooth marble floor,
And I said to myself, "Now what is it for
If not for myself to go skating?" and so
I skated around, ('tho not really you know.)

For I had to pretend I had skates on my feet.
But oh how I darted—so agile and fleet—
Imbued with a feeling that no words could tell
When all of a sudden—whoops—I fell!
I was borne away sobbing. I remember so well.

'Twas the first time I stayed in a large hotel.

TO ANY CUSTOMER

I like you
But sometimes you irritate me.
Sometimes I laugh in amazement
At your childish behavior,
And sometimes I sigh with relief,
When you just nod and walk away.
You make me angry
When you think it is very natural
To break rules, and sometimes laws
To satisfy your wants.
And when I refuse, as politely as is possible,
You get angry, and scold me for Something I can't help.

Your're puzzling
When you calmly ask for nylon hose,
Or bath towels or sheets.
As if you've never heard of shortages
And always want to know "When
Will you receive a shipment?"
As though I could regulate the Express company or the railroads
Like a majestic god.

You make me feel gay
When you say "Please" and "Thank you" with honesty.
Whenever you say pleasant things
Or remember my name,
And when you aren't angry because
I can't supply the things you need,
I like you . . .
Then you're one of the sweetest persons I know.

Phyllis Rhoad

THE POTENT INSECT

I think that I shall never see An insect as dangerous as a bee. If down upon one you are set, Up, very quickly, you will get.

Here it flies, there it flits. Likely enough, it never sits Longer than to sting, And then up and away on wing.

Busy buzzing all day long; Get your nectar and you'll be strong. And if you feel that you are failing, Think of the many that are wailing Because of you, little bee.

James Gahris

THE CYCLE

The sun is setting,
Its golden light is hidden by the quick, dense,
falling night.
The blackness appears shutting out all her rays,
And once more the night brings on the coming day.
The moon carries its silvery beams to the sky,
And over the earth a hushed silence will lie.
Out of the velvety blackness, the stars will appear,
Twinkling all night with nothing to fear.
Then dawn approaches.
The stars quickly hide,
The moon crosses the world to the other side.
The sun again rises and brightens the morn,
And silently, unnoticed, a new day is born.

SPRING

The ice is beginning to crack
Along the river's edge,
And I hear a robin singing
On our neighbor's window ledge.
The little flowers are starting to peep
Out of the ground from their long winter sleep.
The trees are donning their dresses of green,
And among the bright leaves, a nest can be seen.
There's a feeling that grips us and makes us glad,
Even though the thoughts in our hearts may be sad.
And what is this thing which makes us all sing?
You've guessed it by this time, I'm sure,
It is $pring!

RETROSPECTION

Last night my mind journeyed into the past, And lived once again those forgotten days, Now dim and vague, but forever caught fast By time, to remain with me always.

Sometimes I wish the past would truly die, And my mind could never enter the tomb To disturb its peace, wherever it might lie In darkness, and solitude, and gloom.

Betty Jane Zeigler

A SNOW DREAM

As I gazed from my window upon
A blanket of snow on a wintry night,
I could visualize dainty fairies
Dancing with shadows cast by the light
Of the corner lamp post that shone so bright.
The myriad of snowflakes beneath the glow
Sent shadows over the ground with ease
Which from a distance I could perceive,
Was like the scene of a swarm of bees
Busily gathering nectar from blossoms of apple trees.

All of a sudden my rapture began to grow
Dimmer and dimmer and then fade away until
I awoke with a sharp disillusion.
There was snow on the ground.
It was the break of day, but, as I looked around,
No more could I see those dancing fairies at play.

WALKING

I love to walk on a sunny day
To ponder the things I cannot say,
To gaze at the wonders made by God
As down his byways I slowly trod.

WHAT IS MUSIC?

Fine music fills and rests the soul That we may find and reach our goal. This world is naught but pain and strife, But joys and love are music in life.

EL DORADO

The sun I could not see this morning
It was hiding behind a river of clouds
A river of flowing gold, luminous and shining
In the center of which was a slender, gilded pillar
Holding up the indigo of morning sky.

The tops of ice-covered trees were shimmering silver Casting midnight shadows over buildings Sheeted on one side with brilliant, polished gold. And the diamonds, glistening on the grass Showed me wealth in myriads untold.

Why should I search for El Dorado?

It is around me like the music of a symphony.

Jewels of beauty glisten at me from every corner of the universe—

The night sky aglow with riches of every description—

But still I seek the golden El Dorado that is love.

OUR COLUMBIANS

When basketball season comes around each year,
I support it with my loudest cheer.
When the two teams meet, here or there,
Our Columbians always aim with care.

The ball they dribble so carefully,

And hit the basket in their scoring spree.

Each boy guards his player with very sharp eyes,

And as to their methods they get wise.

When the Blue-and-Gold-clad lads take time out,
The cheerleaders take over with their peppiest shout.

A long shot sunk from the middle of the floor,
"Come on, Columbians, raise that score."

When the horn blows, we're up on our feet,

To cheer the Burkettmen who've won their meet.

At the end of the season they've nine wins,

six losses,

For this year's record, it brilliantly glosses.

McKillip and Henry, our scoring forwards, Clady, our center, snatched them from the backboard.

Our experienced guards, Gahris and Talbert, Will remember the game they played with Calvert.

With enlightened spirit they played each game,
And each ball they sank added to their fame.
Live on, basketball, live on forever,
From our school lives, never, never sever.

Jo Anne Henninger

WHY AND HOW?

Over the fathomless ocean,
Across the restless sea,
Are places we lost our loved ones
So Old Glory could be free.

There are the unsung heroes,
Who won't be with us anymore,
But if we live as neighbors should,
We won't fight a third world war.

Let's forget all the battles

And start a new lend-lease;

Then the people in the conquered lands

Will help us promote the peace.

Edward McFerren

SNOW

The beautiful snow falling o'er hill and vale,
Creates a scene along each winding trail.
Its soft feathery touch as it lands on your face,
Sends you back once again to your boyhood place,
Where you woke in the mornings and looked all around,
To see that the snow had covered the ground;
When you pulled your small dog on your brother's big sled,
With its silvery runners and seat of bright red;
When you tumbled and tossed with the young neighbor lad,
And your mother would say, "My boy, you are bad."

Ah, well, 'tis now, and the sleighs in the distance
Glide through the snow with a nameless persistence,
Passing the beautiful, snow-covered trees
With their huge outstretched branches blown by a breeze.
The silvery mist from the ice-covered lakes,
Is mixed with the beautiful, dainty snow flakes.
Their patterns are charming and quaintly designed,
Like some hidden jewel which has yet to be mined.
A lengthening shadow has covered the west,
Where the sun's golden rays have sunk to earth's breast.
The pale, silvery moon cast its beams o'er the world
While the stars twinkle brightly with gold rays unfurled.
A glow to the east brings a new winter day,
And still the deep snow has not gone away.

NELLIE VOGELSONG

C is for Clady whose fame will go higher.

O is for Osborn, whose pluck we admire.

L is for LeSavage—always in a daze.

U is for (T) using who is known for his ways.

M is for Mohr who is not very tall.

B is for Bishop, a boy liked by all.

I is for Einsel-I know we can't spell.

A is for Adams who's all for Hopewell.

N is for Nancy—we have two by that name; Swinnerton and Kiefer both add to our fame.

H is for Hill, whom we all know as Speed

I is for Irene who makes the Dairy's trade lead.

G is for Glenn whose football is up to par,

H is for Hulthen who'll be a basketball star.

S is for Sammy; we all know him well,

C is for Creeger; for a junior she fell.

H is for Harrison-president of his class.

O is for Odette—a tomboyish young lass.

O is for Owen-we think he is sane,

L is for Love—a significant name.

* * *

He loves to spend a pleasant hour With his newest girl friend.
But this girl says she is done with him Because that's all he spends.

非 非 非

Whatever trouble Adam had,

No man in days of yore

Could say when he had told a joke,

"I've heard that joke before."

A SOPHOMORE SPEAKS

I wish I were a senior,
And with the seniors stand
A fountain pen behind my ear,
A notebook in my hand.

I would not be an angel, For angels have to sing; But I would be a senior And never do a thing.

That's a Joke, Son!

Jim Miller: He's been sitting there all day, doing nothing but wasting time.

Dick Turney: How do you know?

Jim Miller: Because I have been sitting here watching him.

Mr. Daniel: Why don't you read this book of world history from 5000 B.C. to 1938 A.D.?

Gene Owen: Aw, I looked at it, but I don't like the way it ends.

Kenneth Shuff: When is your birthday?
Dorothy Kiger: When would it be most convenient for you?

Mary Sue Menke: Why do you always take off your hat when I tell a joke?

Jane Egbert: That's my way of greeting old acquaintances.

John McCloud: Whom are you shoving? John Pinkerton: I don't know. What's your name?

Pete McKillip: What did you write on my paper? I can't make it out.

Mr. Lutz: I merely asked you to write more clearly.

Bob Kirchner: Do you know the difference between a streetcar and a taxicab?

June Creeger: Nó.

Bob K.: Good; We'll take a streetcar.

Bill H: You should see my brother. He has celery growing out of his ears.

Jim Elchert: Celery? That's strange. Bill: It certainly is. I planted radishes.

Jim McDevitt: Who was that blonde I saw you with on Wednesday and Thursday nights?

Dick Zachardy: That was the brunette you saw me with on Monday and Tuesday nights.

Pat Werba: I'll take my hat off to you oyster eaters. It was all I could do to eat three last night.

Muriel Culver: Weren't they fresh? What did they look like when you opened them?

Pat: Oh, do you have to open them?

Ruth Lewis: Gee, you have a bum bunch of jokes in this issue.

Doris Graham: Oh, I don't know. I put some in the stove, and the fire just roared.

Bob Brian (at year play): This play makes me

Marilyn Mohler (same place): Oh, a miracle play, eh?

Miss Dietzel: Caesar pitched his camp across the river.

Roger Hulthen: Gee, he must have been strong.

Pat Stewart: Please sir, may I leave class to jump ope?

Mr. Daniel: And why the kindergarten act?
Pat: I've just taken my medicine and forgot to shake the bottle.

Nancy: I was sick in bed last Tuesday.

Pat: Anything serious?

Nancy: No, only a history test.

Jean Riley: What's that gurgling noise I hear? Carolyn Leiner: That's me trying to swallow your line. Dot Burger: I feel like telling that teacher off again.

Joan Shatzman: What you you mean . . . again? Dot B.: I felt the same way yesterday.

First Aid Instructor: Now, tell me what you would do if you saw a car stalled and the driver draped over the wheel!

Bill Brown: Jack up the car and take the tires.

Don Zartman: Show me a tough guy, and I'll show you a coward.

Dick Fetzer: Yeah? I'm a tough guy.

Don: Well, I'm a coward.

Miss Detwiler: I said the compositions on milk were to be two pages long. Yours is only half a page, Lola Jean.

Lola Jean H.: But I wrote about condensed milk.

Mrs. Ewing (in English class): When do you use whom in a sentence, Paul?

Paul Fassler: The only time I ever use whom is in English class.

Nancy: I'm afraid to walk in this dark lane with you. You might try to kiss me.

Farm lad: How can I do that with a cane in my one hand, a chicken in the other, carrying a pail on my back, and leading a goat?

Nancy: Well you might tie the goat to the cane, and stick it in the ground. Then you could put the chicken under the pail.

Phyllis Rhoad: Why is this letter so damp? Nellie Turner: Postage dew, I guess.

Mr. Mazzaferro: When was the revival of learning?

Glenn Ritzenthaler: Just before exams.

Officer: Say, didn't you see that signal? Raymond Stahl: E-r, yes sir,—but I didn't see you.

Marilyn: How many studies are you carrying? Prudy: I'm carrying one and dragging three.

Mr. Bailey: Thursday we'll take arsenic and Friday, chlorine.

Betty Gamarra: We won't need the chlorine.

Miss Herron: Tomorrow we will take the life of John Milton. Please come prepared.

Speedy: My girl has two faults. Ritz: You and who else?

Mr. Lutz: Did you give the goldfish fresh water oday?

Bonford Talbert: No, they haven't used up what I gave them yesterday.

Jim Speck: There's a mouse! Mrs. Broker: Well, get rid of it.

Jim Speck: I have it cornered: Now what do I do with it?

Mrs. Broker: Oh dear, I don't know.

Jim: Never mind, I do. I threw it out the window. (actual experience in Spanish class).

Patsy (on a rainy day): Gee, my shoes are almost full of water.

Christine: It's a pity you didn't wear your pumps.
